IRISH CARDINAL IS EXTENDED WELCOME UPON ARRIVAL HERE

Primate Deprecates Himself As Crowd Swarms
Pier

NEW YORK, June 11.—Patrick, Cardinal O'Donnell, primate of Ireland, stood in the dignity of his robes and his seventy years on a Hoboken Pier as he landed from the liner President Roosevelt today and spoke deprecatingly as a crowd of churchmen and laymen joined in welcoming him to America.

"I am but a humble man," the aged prelate said, speaking of the impressive welcome being accorded to all the foreign church leaders arriving for the coming Eucharistic Congress in Chicago.

Six feet tall, broad shouldered and genial, the Cardinal who comes from County Armagh, had played deck golf and joined in other deck sports on the transatlantic voyage.

He was interested principally in telling of Ireland's affection for America, and in meeting his Uncle John Breslin, of Brooklyn, whom he had never seen.

Seventy other churchmen were in the Cardinal's party which was met at the pier by Mayor Frank Hague of New Jersey, acting mayor Augustus Bach, of Hoboken and New York and New Jersey clerical.

Cardinal O'Donnell is the second primate of Ireland ever to visit the United States. He discussed problems of Ireland today saying that "for all our wants we had a generous helper in Greater Ireland on the other side of the Atlantic."

The party was taken to the Battery on the fireboat John Purroy Mitchell whence the Cardinal was escorted by a Parade to the Vanderbilt Hotel. He will remain through next Wednesday, when he leaves for Chicago.

Meanwhile civic and church leaders were preparing an enthusiastic welcome to Cardinal Bonzano, papal delegate to the Eucharistic congress, who is due later today on the S. S. Aquitania.

Cardinal Hayes and other church dignitaries will go down the bay on a yacht to meet the Aquitania due at Quarantine at 2:30 p. m. Other delegations representing the Catholic Club will be at Quarantine, while Knights of Columbus, the Holy Name Society and other societies have chartered four steamers on which they will meet the liner.

CRY OF BLACKHANDER CAUSES PANIC AMONG BROOKLYN CHILDREN

Two Trampled Seriously When Boy's Shout Precipitates Terror At Italian School—Police Calm Crowds

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 11.—A small boy shouted "Blackhand!" probably as a hot retort to some tormenter, in front of a school attended largely by Italians here today, and precipitated a panic which spread through the hundreds of children at the school, then around the neighborhood and finally required strenuous efforts by police to quiet.

Two children were so severely hurt they were taken to hospitals and others were knocked down and bruised, requiring first aid treatment.

The children were entering the building for classes when the cry of "Blackhand!" came from the street.

The cry was taken up by hundreds of children. Those still outside broke ranks and fled for their homes, spreading the cry. The lines of children inside the building stopped moving as they took up the cry. Then they turned towards the doors.

In a moment they were shoving, pushing and fighting to escape. Teachers, attempting to quiet them, were brushed aside. One boy fell on a stairway and was trampled and kicked.

Soon the school was stormed by excited women and a few men.

Cries of "where's my baby?" went up as many mothers sought to force their way into the school.

Emergency squads of police arrived and called for reserves.

Then, crushing their way through the screaming children, dotted with frantic mothers, they took stations at the doorways and gates stemmed the rush and finally restored order.

"It was a peculiar instance of mass-hysteria" was the verdict of police.

Another step was taken by City Commission Thursday night with the ultimate view of clarifying the present involved situation and settling all differences with the Dayton, Springfield and Xenia Southern Railway Co., relative to granting the company a twenty-year re-negotiation of its franchise into the city.

Although not accepting a counter proposition of R. K. Landis, Dayton as receiver, under which the city is made a cash offer of $10,000 with which to finance re-construction of S. Detroit St., when the city's one-man car route is torn up, the commission in a resolution, made another proposal.

By a unanimous vote, a resolution was adopted whereby the traction company may either re-build the street according to plans and specifications as drawn up by A. E. Williams, city engineer, or pay outright to the city $10,000 in cash to finance the project.

It was also made a condition in the resolution that the company shall never locate a passenger station south of Main St., must re-build the tracks between Main and Second Sts. to conform with those on W. Main St., and must vacate or dispose of its traction line rights north of Market St. to the Fairfield Road.

The Springfield and Xenia Traction company is eager to purchase this track. Federal Judge Smith Hickenlooper has also recommended the sale of the track to this company.

This proposition will be added to the franchise ordinance. Passage of the ordinance may depend upon acceptance of the proposal.

City Solicitor J. A. Finney was to notify Receiver Landis of the commission's action.

A. E. Williams, representing the Foster Engineering Co., Dayton contracting firm, made an offer at the meeting to re-build S. Detroit St., with brick between the rails for $10,000. He also agreed to furnish proper bond.

The D. S. and X. S. is anxious to be relieved of the responsibility of re-building the street this summer as it is understood that either sale or foreclosure of the company may take place in July. The receiver-ship will be terminated at the same time.

BRAZIL TO DESERT LEAGUE COUNCIL IS REPORT AT GENEVA

Spain Also Plans To
Quit League Is
Learned

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 11.—Brazil has determined to resign from the League of Nations, it was revealed today in a cable sent by the government to Mello Franco, the Brazilian council member at Geneva.

After stating the Brazilian note delivered to the league yesterday definitely resigned Brazil's non-permanent council membership, the government's cable added that "in accordance with the final part of the league covenants first article, Brazil will notify the league of nations secretariat of her resolution to decline the honor which she always has appreciated of taking part in the league, thereby completing with rectitude and regret her act of today (meaning the note which was delivered to the league yesterday)."

GENEVA, June 11.—With Brazil already resigned from the league of nations council, Spain threatening to withdraw from the league and all progress toward world disarmament blocked until Sept. members of the council will be arriving in their home capitals today and tomorrow to explain to their respective cabinets the painful happenings at Geneva.

France told the council she could not disarm until her security had been guaranteed adequately. Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary then requested delay in consideration of French proposals to amend the league covenant to conform with the French idea of security.

The amendments would enable the council to act more quickly to prevent hostilities and also to render quicker financial, economic and military aid to an attacked nation.

The council held Brazil cannot resign before September when the assembly will be in session and prepared to elect a successor.

YEAR WITHOUT SUMMER WILL BE REPEATED IN 1927 IS FORECAST

Meteorologist Says World Entering On Cataclysmic
Change In Climate—World Famine
Is Threatened

CHICAGO, June 11.—Repitition of the severe weather conditions of 1816, known in history as the "year without a summer," is inevitable in 1927 and under the present economic organization will threaten a world famine, according to Herbert Janvrin Browne, Washington meteorologist.

"We are entering upon a period of cataclysmic changes in climate," Browne told the United Press. "Already New England is affected. There was snow in Virginia and New York State Saturday and in Maryland, Monday, resulting from the rush of polar ice into Newfoundland banks."

Browne is a pioneer in long range forecasting. Although the scientific accuracy of his methods are questioned by some meteorologists and by government officials, he cites fulfillment of many predictions in support of his forecasting theory, which is based on solar radiation and ocean currents.

"There was frost every month of the year 1816 in New England," Browne said, quoting historical records. "Crops failed. Four to ten inches of snow fell in June and remained all summer in lower Canada. Similar conditions prevailed in the rest of the country and in Europe."

No disastrous famine resulted because we were an agricultural country. Farmers were economically independent with their stores of grain and smoked meats. But under our present economic system of exchange similar weather conditions will be disastrous."

European countries are preparing for the impending crop failures, Browne said. Premier Mussolini, of Italy, for example has ordered every available acre of land planted to wheat.

"Solar radiation started dropping five years ago. It has taken until now for the drop to affect ocean currents which control temperatures over the land surface of the world. The past winter in Europe was severe because the Gulf Stream in the Atlantic reacts more quickly than the Humboldt current in the Pacific," Browne declared.

At the mass meeting which will conclude the festivities, Congressman Theodore E. Burton and former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, will address the delegates.

The celebration marks a century of good will between Ohio and her northerly neighbor and is intended to promote greater industrial and commercial returns between the state and Canada.

COLUMBUS, O., June 11.—Francis Gormley, 35, a window washer, was killed instantly today when he fell from the 13th floor of the Guaranty Title and Trust Company building here. Gormley crashed to the roof of the City National Bank building.

Mrs. Harris worked for graduation not only to benefit herself, she said, but to help her children. Arden, 14, who will enter high school next fall and Esther Margaret, 9, who will enter the sixth grade, in their studies.

FOWLERVILLE, Mich., June 11.—Mrs. Arthur Monroe, wife of a farmer living near here, was found beaten to death in her home today and her husband was near death from an attack by persons believed to have been intent on robbery.

Monroe sold his farm recently and was to have moved to his new home in Detroit today, according to police, and it is believed the murderers thought the money obtained from the sale was in the house.

Cramer, who conducts the Miami Hatchery, recently entered into a partnership with Steele, who formerly made his home in Chillicothe but now lives in Xenia.

The automatic dipping machine was invented by a man named Hedrick, Newton, Kan. It is now being manufactured and sold by the local firm.

The newly perfected dipper performs the dipping formerly done by hand as the chickens leave the poultry house in the morning, without injury to the fowls in the operation, Mr. Cramer declares.

Fowls pass through the machine on leaving the building and are trapped into a tub of dipping fluid as fast as they come through. The contrivance of tin is thirty inches in length, twenty inches high and eight inches wide. It may be fastened on the side of a hen house.

CONQUER CONSTIPATION EASILY

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN relieves constipation because it is 100% BRAN

Mr. McEnery tried part-bran substitutes — but only ALL-BRAN brought complete relief. Here's what he says:

"For fifteen years I was constantly bothered with constipation. About two years ago I tried out mixed bran and corn flakes but did not get much relief. Some eighteen months ago, I began using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. From the first week to this good day, I have never had to take a dose of any laxative medicine of any description."

JAMES D. MCENERY, R. F. D. No. 4, Alto, Texas.

Constipation is the enemy of health. The cause of more than forty diseases. Don't let this insidious trouble send its poisons through your body. Pimples, spots before the eyes, indigestion and headaches—are warning signs.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your money is refunded. Delicious with milk, fruit or with other cereals. Fine in cooking.

Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere.

The Thrill of a Sparkling Eye!

You brides GOT him with that "sparkle" and by gee whizz sir that's a SURE way to HOLD him! We're men folks over here and until men are forced to wear BLINDERS, crutches, a ball and chain and handcuffs, the little ole "sparkle" keeps us in line! And our Rexall Eye Drops used twice a week sure do JUST that! Costs 25c.

A Bride's Handicap!

They're all a BIT handicapped compared to the freedom a MALE enjoys but, gosh, you know there's NOTHING so dis-allusioning as a heady bride mooching around all broke out in a gloom. Is there? ### The Temperature of a Bride's Kiss!

No matter how low or how HIGH it is, it's dern poor medicine when the brand new groom bats his thumb nail with a hammer! Of course, a kiss (one of the 105 deg. sort) WILL take your MIND off a bruise of this kind but there are far more sensible things in a Medicine Chest to help out if the bride has seen to its proper equipping. And that's only ONE point! One item.

For after all, BOTH of you, and this includes the groom, have JUST GOT to light! A sky-trip like a honeymoon is a most thrilling and adventurous expedition and ALL of us whether we have taken the trip or are looking forward to one are certainly interested in BRIDES and their future. And THAT'S a normal, healthy reason why we here in this store—ALL of us—are particularly interested in moving forward into prominent places the "things" which brides like to get as PRESENTS. Not that they'll appreciate them NOW, understand, but they WILL appreciate them AFTER they come back to earth—with the REST of us poor mortals.

And DON'T forget the GROOM! We haven't, but we DO realize that he sure is unimportant even though more or less a necessary evil in well organized honeymoons. Are we right?

DOC. SAYRE.

Shorty Says:-

Not having had no experience in bride grooming, I can only speak from hearsay and observation but I DO know that a woman ought to make an active member of Congress — she's ALWAYS introducing a new bill in the HOUSE. IGNORING WRITER'S RIGHTS

Apparently there is a marked difference between the sexes in the matter of reading novels. While statistics are not available, it is believed the number of women who read the last pages of a novel first is large, and there are equally good reasons to believe that such a practice would spoil a novel for most men. Perhaps the difference is due to a woman's traditional curiosity.

There are two objections to reading books "backwards". It removes the element of suspense, destroys the sequence of the story, defeats the author's purpose to surprise his readers—which are the things that really make a story—and it is unfair to the author. A novel is supposed to have, and all good novels do have, a beginning, a middle, and an end, and to take these in the wrong order is to ignore the rights as well as the purpose of the writer. Certainly the reader is under some obligation to give the author a chance to prove his ability to develop characters and build up a situation and a climax.

But how is the situation to be corrected? If all readers finished the end before reading the opening chapter, a simple remedy would be the interchanging of the beginning and end in the printing of the book. As there are some readers in control of their curiosity and equal to the most exciting suspense, it is suggested that two editions, with the text reversed in the one, be published.

As far as legislating against the evil, such drastic action does not seem necessary since the weaker sex is not clamoring for protection from its own overpowering curiosity and impatience and the authors have not been cut off from their royalties.

GROUNDLESS FEARS

Occasionally there is heard the hysterical question, "what will the world do when the coal supply is exhausted," and some answer calmly, "science will discover a substitute," or something to that effect. Both question and answer provide food for thought but there is much more mental pabulum and more readily digestible in the report of the geological survey that in the United States alone there are 3,854,000,000,000 tons of coal unmined and an equal amount in the rest of the world. Surely this report leaves no food for worry for this and several succeeding generations.

The United States began mining coal in 1814 with a production that year of twenty tons. The production in 110 years since 1814 was an aggregate of 14,000,000,000 tons.

With 99 per cent of its original determined coal supply still in the ground, the people of the United States need feel no anxiety over its future fuel, especially since the United States is producing one-half the world's output of the black diamonds.

The Theatre

Many are the tales of the big-heartedness of the variety people—the folk who play vaudeville time. Stories of the sacrifices made by these people of the theater for friends rival that of Damon and Pythias.

Mark Hellinger, who reports Broadway from the inner circle tells of a new example of this spirit of friendship. Dorothy Antel, who fell on an iron staircase while playing in a production six years ago and has been imprisoned in a steel jacket ever since, is the newest example.

Miss Antel, it appears, wanted to move closer to her beloved Broadway. When the story went abroad seven cabarets came to her assistance. A ball was held for her benefit, a vaudeville magnate chipped in more than his share and in other ways, the sum mounted.

As a result they pumped Dorothy full of morphine, took her into the open air for the second time in six years, and carried her six miles down town to 316 W. Seventy-second St. There she can see the Hudson and the lights of Broadway are but a few blocks away. And she is happy.

Hellinger also contributes this to the list of famous last words: "There was no wine in the bathtub."

Warner Bros., Syd Chaplin and Chuck Geisner will bring the famous stage play, "The Better Ole," to the screen soon. Warners will produce the picture, which Geisner will direct. Chaplin will play the part of "Old Bill," and will discard his female wig and feminine habiliments to play the role for straight comedy. Doris Hill will be his leading lady.

Reginald Denny, screen star, tells this one. If you've heard it, stop me. Denny was speeding down a California road when he passed a man in a flivver going the same direction. Returning some time later, he found the flivver driver in the ditch with his car on top of him. Denny was solicitous about what caused the accident. "Well," said the unfortunate motorist, "when you passed me you were going so fast I thought my car had stopped and I stepped out to crank it."

ORANGE SPONGE PIE
To make two Orange Sponge Pies, begin by mixing the following:

Crust: "Sift" one-fourth teaspoon of baking powder with three-quarters of a cup of either pastry flour or ordinary bread flour and a pinch of salt. There is no doubt about it, pastry flour does make a lighter pie crust—but what wonderful results our grandmothers used to get with just the bread flour! I sometimes use one, sometimes the other. And both kinds of crust are good. But perhaps the beginner had best use the pastry flour, as the bread flour requires a "light hand."

Into this dry mixture, rub one-fourth cup of pure leaf lard. This may be done with the finger-tips or you may cut the lard into the flour by means of a pair of knives held scissors-like.

Next, wet with one-third cup of cold water and toss out onto a slightly-floured bread board. Roll to one-third inch in thickness, and dot surface of dough with one-fourth cup of butter; dredge with one-fourth cup of additional flour then fold in from both sides and double the roll over in the middle to form a sort of square. Cut this square in half with a floured knife—using one half for each of the two under crusts.

With a little practice you beginners will also be able to roll the dough into almost a perfect circle, so that you may lift it onto the ungreased pie-pan and it will practically fit without much trimming around edges. I use a little thirty-cent iron pie-edge fancy cutter on my pies (I bought it in a department store and I am sure that all my readers can find a pastry-edge-flutter along the same lines by asking for such an article at various shops). Stick the crust all over with a fork so that the steam may escape in the baking. The two under crusts are now ready for the following:

Orange Sponge Filling: (This

recipe fills two pies.) Separate four eggs, placing the four yolks in a medium-size mixing bowl. Add to these yolks four table-spoons of bread flour, and mix well. Then also add two table-spoons of very soft butter, the rind and juice and pulp of two small or medium-size oranges (to make a Lemon Sponge Pie you would merely substitute rind and juice of two large lemons for these two oranges). Then stir in two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of cold, sweet milk. Mix well and fold in the four egg-whites stiffly beaten. Bake in a medium-hot oven for forty-five minutes (about 400 degrees Fahrenheit).

SIDELIGHTS ON Greene County History

STRINGTOWN

In the northwestern part of New Jasper Township, as a collection of houses clustered along the road, which, for a number of years, was known as Stringtown. At present there are little more than a dozen houses which may be considered as a part of this "town." There is no store or church at this point. Five of the houses were occupied by colored families in 1918.

A number of colored families came to this immediate vicinity to make their homes in the years before the Civil War.

They were from the South and were settled on farms in the corner of the township by their owners.

The colored families, four in number, were freed by their masters, who, in a desire to help the poor people, came to this county, bought about 400 acres of land and gave it to them for their permanent homes.

These families were the Curts, Smiths, Brooks and Fergusons, well remembered by the older generations of the township, most of them and their descendants finally locating in Xenia.

The colored people living along the road in Stringtown in later years were not of this group, but later comers into the township.

The Young family later owned the old Curt and Smith farms.

ACCEPTANCE

As it's given to me to see,
I have come to this conclusion:
Telling God what ought to be
Is impertinent intrusion.
So when I get down to pray
I just ask for what is best
And the strength to face the day
And the faith to meet the test.
As I run my own life through,
'Spite of all the plans I'm taking,
I'm ashamed to sit and view
All the blunders I've been making.
I've so bungled my affairs,
Doing what I thought was wise,
That I've ceased to put on airs
And I fear to criticize.
All my boasted judgment seems
But a hodge-podge and a jumble,
I have spoiled so many dreams
That I should be very humble.
For the gain I thought was good
Often turned out very bad.
And the loss, when understood,
Brought what small success I've had.
As it's given to me to see,
I have come to this conclusion:
Telling God what ought to be
Is impertinent intrusion.
Since I cannot wisely run
All these small affairs of mine,
Surely I am not the one
To resent the will divine.

Red itching blisters on baby's face healed by Resinol

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 19:—"My baby had eczema for three months and nothing seemed to do him any good until I tried your products. His cheeks were red and covered with blisters, and the itching was so annoying that he could not sleep. After reading your ad in the paper I purchased a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap. Only a few applications stopped the itching entirely and within a week the redness was gone and his skin practically clear. Your ointment is really wonderful and I will praise it to everyone." Today's Talk

THE ETIQUETTE OF THE HEART

In these little Talks I say much about the heart. The reason is that life centres about the heart. I like fine manners. To see a person who knows the proper thing to do under all circumstances is to look upon one well equipped for association with all types of human beings. The well-mannered person is at home everywhere—even among those who are not well trained or taught.

But I believe that too much emphasis can be placed upon ordinary physical etiquette with the heart showing its ill breeding. "Kind hearts are more than coronets." And a well-mannered heart always takes upon itself a touch of heaven.

I have known people who would become greatly disturbed over ill manners at a table or at a gathering but who would not hesitate to hurt another by a crude remark or an unkind reference.

Politeness is simply honesty. And to be honest is to answer to our most sincere impulses whether these impulses tell of the proper thing or not. Fine conduct is naturalness so shaped as to make people comfortable and happy. He or she uses the best etiquette who makes those near the least disturbed and at ease. The fine-mannered heart doesn't hurt other hearts. We never become completely educated. But we grow more educated as we learn to inspire others through our own efforts to use every faculty at our command for the happiness of others. I miss those whom I love who have fine-mannered hearts, who live in me though they may be far separated.

SPRINGFIELD TEAM WILL OPPOSE XENIA RESERVE 9 SUNDAY

The Springfield Millard Clothiers will be the attraction at Washington Park against the Xenia Reserves Sunday afternoon.

Cyphers will again occupy the mound for Manager Brockman's nine, and if guaranteed a little support in the field, a requirement that must be accorded the best pitchers will probably shatter their one-game losing streak.

Cyphers lost a 5 to 4 verdict in the contest with the Springfield When Clothiers last Sunday but the fault was not his. He should have won 4 to 1, errors by his teammates paying the way for four unearned tallies.

The Springfield Millards will prove to be no easy combination to defeat. Earlier in the season this team defeated the Reserves, 10 to 8.

The management announces an attendance prize will be given away in the fifth inning. The prize, an ivory shaving set, is on display in the window at the Geyer book store, S. Detroit St.

PLAY YELLOW CABS SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Nothing daunted by a 4 to 1 defeat in the first game of the season with the Dayton Yellow Cabs last week, the Xenia Indians are practicing earnestly for the clash with the strong Bellbrook nine Sunday afternoon at Ringer Park. Game will start at 3 p. m.

Lucas, a Springfield hurler, and Jones will form the Xenia battery with Michael and Waller working for the enemy.

The Indians have strengthened their lineup for this game by the addition of new players in the outfield. The infield is strong. Jones, first baseman, formerly played with the Louisville American Association team, it is said.

Bellbrook is confident of victory. The team was victorious over the Yellow Cabs twice last season and is represented by the same team again this year.

The local management is taking steps to improve the park, the first of which is the erection of a new grand stand. Work on this was begun this week.

KID STAR PITCHES FOR BOWERSVILLE

"Red" Lucas, sixteen-year-old high school pitching sensation of the Bowersville Bayliffs, will attempt to put an end to the team's losing streak in the game with the Dayton Shamrock Aces at Bowersville Sunday afternoon.

Lucas is the successor to Clarence Wells, who is now the regular twirler for Greenfield, and is considered one of the finds of the season.

The Bayliffs suffered a painful batting slump last week, failing to connect with one safe hit in a seven inning game with Harshman.

The line-up has since been strengthened and the nine hopes to climb back on the win side Sunday. The contest will start at 2 p. m., standard time.

Sunday School Lessons

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
(By Franklin Parker).
JOSEPH'S FIDELITY

GOLDEN TEXT: Seest thou a man diligent in business? He shall stand before kings. Proverbs 22:29.

TIME: Joseph was 17 years old when he was taken to Egypt in B. C. 1736 and 28 years old when in B. C. 1725 he was sent to prison. He was steward to Potiphar for 10 years.

PLACE: If the Pharaoh of Joseph's time was a member of the Hyksos dynasty or shepherd kings of Egypt, his capital, where Joseph apparently lived, "was a stronghold in the delta called Avaris, the site of which has not been discovered."

INTRODUCTION: The older brothers seized Joseph, the favorite of the venerable father, out of envy, threw him screaming into a pit, and then thought they had put the dreamer out of the way and that their life would run on in untroubled smoothness. But some travelers and traders came along and they sold him to them as a slave. The story is one of the blackest in the Bible. Out of this insane envy and hatred grew the steps that carried Israel down into Egypt with all that he possessed and with all that followed from this historic event in the history of the world.

1. JOSEPH, SOLD A SLAVE: Potiphar, the king's chief officer, of the court and captain of the guard, bought him and made him his house servant. The good qualities of the boy appeared soon and he was appreciated. This Hebrew boy did not leave his religion behind him when he passed into a foreign country and was sold as a slave. He was blessed for his faithfulness to God and man. True religion does this very thing to this day. It is hard to keep a good man down.

2. HIS TEMPTATION: Potiphar's evil wife cast her wicked and sensual eyes on him and the seductive solicitation was repeated day after day, the strain upon self control was tremendous. Joseph stood firm and staunch as steel against his temptation. Good and evil are so entwined in this world that the purest soul may be caught in the coils of temptation and tragedy. Yet no one is ever tempted above that he is able to bear, for the temptation there is always some means of escape. 1 Corinthians 10:13.

3. IN PRISON: A common prison in any land is not a palace but in that heathen land and brutal age it evidently was a terrible place. How tragic was the fate of this pure soul. The very virtue that was the most splendid jewel of his character became the shining mark that drew the poisonous arrow of just and hate. Does not this leaf of ancient history tell a story that is often repeated in our modern time? It is easy and popular to express our sympathy with Joseph, in prison under false accusation, but let us beware that we ourselves do not play the part of Potiphar's wife in starting, suggesting, exaggerating or spreading evil reports. "Judge not, that ye be not judged." Matthew 7:1.

4. FRIENDS: He quickly made two friends. God went to jail with Joseph, so to speak, and shared the prison with him. This is no mere figure of speech but speaks a real truth. God never deserts a man because he is down and out in the estimation of men. It makes no difference where we are, in what hard circumstances, bitter bondage or deep unjust disgrace, we can have God with us. One other friend Joseph soon had in the jail: "the keeper of the prison." But all lives are linked together, and the humblest may be linked with the highest. The very favor of God to Joseph found some expression in the kindness of this jailer, and if Joseph had spurned the good will of the jailer he might have broken the chain that under the blessing of God, brought him to this high place. Let us not despise the good will of the humblest people, for not only may we help them, but they may help us, even in some of the most important steps of our life.

5. JOSEPH, PRISON SUPERINTENDENT: He was soon seen to be a good prisoner, self controlled and reasonable in disposition, obedient and trustworthy in conduct, keeping the rules of the prison and always doing what he was told to do. Step by step the prisoner rose from his barred cell to the highest office in the prison. Patience, continuance in well-doing was the path and the power that placed him in this high place.

No man is likely to be kept down that has in him such spirit of faithful service. If one thinks himself in a narrow and tight place, instead of fretting against Providence or against the social order, let him make himself so useful there that it no longer can hold him, and then an outlet will be opened. "Seest thou a man diligent in his business?" He shall stand before kings." Proverbs 22:29.

THE COURAGEOUS HEART
I know the stars are in the sky
I know the rivers run,
I know the ocean tides obey
The mandate of the sun.

I know the flowers trust in God,
As year by year they bloom,
Then why should I so fearful be
Of destiny or doom?

I know that through all life there
Runs
One great eternal law,
I know that ignorance is sin,
And Fear the only flaw.

And knowing Truth, and fearing naught,
I get my quiet way,
Assured that a courageous heart
Shall win the darkest day.

CURRENTS
It may work out alright. More pats and less tax.

The Russians received a great jolt at the hands of the British working people.

Our debt payment from France will never happen if she ever pensions her Premiers.

May showers make the nations
flourish.
America has overreached Norway
in the Pole-vault.

Did you ever have the feeling the next morning like the picture of the man transmitted across the ocean by radio?

BIBLE STORY
"Thou hast searched my goods.
Put what thou has found of thine between us and thy clan, that they may judge betwixt us. For twenty years have I been with thee. My care of thy flock thou knowest. For what was torn by the wild beast or stolen by the robber I repaid thee.
For thy flock's sake I was burned
by the sun and chilled by the frost, and passed toilsome days and sleepless nights. Well thou knowest that had not the fear of the God of my fathers, who is with me, held thee back, thou wouldst have sent me
home penniless."

For a moment even Laban was shamed. "What use for us to quarrel," he said, "since we are all of one blood? Let us make an agreement and part." Then they piled up a cairn there in Gilead and the two companions ate and drank upon the cairn. And they named it Mizpah "Watch Tower." "For," said the older cheat to the younger, who had overreached him in the end,

"May God watch between us two when we are absent one from the other and may God judge between us if we harm one other." And it may seem that they both needed a weather and a judge.

Next morning Laban kissed his daughters and their children and blessed them; and the two parties took their different ways never to meet again.

The Return
As the vision of God came to Jacob when he went of the Land of Promise, so visions were to greet him as he returned. For as they camped one night in Gilead, he was aware that his camp was not the only one. All around his tents were companies of bright angels, such as he had seen on the golden stair way in his vision at Bethel. Then he said: "Let this place be called 'Ma-hanaim, Two Hosts' since God has sent His host to keep watch and ward over mine." But still his heart was heavy at the thought of that ancient wrong that he had done to his brother and he dreaded the hour that he should meet with Esau.

Therefore he sent greetings and messengers to the wild hunter where he dwelt in Mount Seir of the southland and he besought his grace; but when they returned they brought no answer save this "Behold, thy brother comes to meet thee and with him are four hundred armed men." At that word Jacob was sorely distressed for he judged the heart of Esau by the heart of himself, stubborn and unforgetting.
So he divided his company, with his flocks and herds and camel trains, into two bands; that so, if Esau should destroy the one, the other might escape. Then falling upon his knees he prayed to Jehovah, "Oh, God of my fathers," he said, "who didst command me to return to this land, behold, I am not worthy of all the mercy which thou didst show me for, when I passed this river
Jordan before, I was a helpless wanderer, with no possession but my pilgrim's staff, and now I have become two bands. Save me, I pray Thee, from the vengeance of my brother Esau, for I fear him, lest he slay me and my dear ones. Lord, hast thou not promised to be gracious to me, and to make of my household as the sands of the sea?"

CHILDREN'S DAY PROGRAMS TO BE HELD IN ALL XENIA CHURCHES SUNDAY, IS SAID

"Children's Day" which whitefrocks little misses and shy boys will present programs of the day, will be observed in Xenia Churches, Sunday.

The Rev. S. R. Burkett, pastor,
Friends Church, where exercises will be held Sunday morning beginning at 10:45, taking the place of the regular morning worship,
said in announcing his plans:
"The church is glad to give the time for this service in honor of the children who are the men and women of tomorrow; we fear too little time is given to the children in our usual meetings for worship. Neither can we make up for our neglect in this one day, so may each day be 'children's day.' It is to be hoped that we may gain a greater appreciation of the children, for as Gen. Grant said, 'I take off my hat to every child, for who knows what lies within.'"

Children's Day program will be held at First Baptist Church Sunday evening at 7:30. Other churches have arranged programs for both the Sunday School
and regular church hours.
Members of all congregations have been asked to bring flowers to decorate the auditoriums for the day. Flowers are to be taken urday afternoon.

groups. Primary and junior de-

for weeks preparing the children

vise his sermon to children and other special features have been arranged for in various churches.

OPEN MINDEDNESS
OF LINCOLN

Lincoln is sometimes spoken of as a typical American. It would be much nearer the truth to describe him as our most exceptional American. In no respect was he more exceptional than in his capacity for growth. He kept growing intellectually to the end of his life and never more rapidly than after his elevation to the presidency. He took the leading papers on both sides of the burning question that agitated the people of his day and reached his conclusions only after careful thought and full discussion. How many men do that today? Most men close their minds at twenty and practically all at forty. Lincoln's open mindedness was the secret of his vast tolerance, in which there is nothing of which we stand in greater need at the present.

F. H. HODDER,
Head, Dept. History,
University of Kansas.

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

ROLAND

Once upon a time there lived a nasty old witch who had a husband and a hired man. As the fashion was, she wanted to die her man and marry the farm hand. One day she decided to kill her man, Roland. "I'll fix him tonight," she said. "I'll cut off his head tonight while he sleeps."

Luckily the husband overheard her remarks, so just before bed-time he got the hired man drunk. He then placed the hired man in his bed and he got in the hired man's bed. At midnight the old witch slipped in with a penknife and let it fall on her intended victim. Alas, with one stroke she cut off the head of the one she loved.

The next morning Roland got up, knocked at the door of the hired man's widow, told her what had happened and then fled with her. But before they left they secured the magic wand rolling pin belonging to the old witch.

The next morning when the mean old pill got out to plan out her next move and into pants, she found the cold body of the one she wanted to marry. She flew into a terrible fit of anger and stepped into a pair of felt boots in which she could go a mile at each step. It wasn't long until she overtook her husband and the widow, but it availed her nothing.

Roland took the magic wand rolling pin and changed a field of alfalfa hay into a great pond of water. He then changed the mean old witch into a duck and made her swim around on the pond, while he and the widow stood on the shore and threw stones at her. He later changed the witch back to her former self, while the widow was changed into a beautiful rose and he, himself, was changed into a fiddler.

Along came the mean old witch to pluck the beautiful rose, when Roland struck up a tune on the fiddle. The witch could not resist it. She began to dance and took a mile at each stride. It wasn't but a few minutes until she had danced to a point thousands of miles away. Roland then stopped the music and she didn't know how to get back home.

Roland and the widow changed back to their former selves and were married. And to this day they live very happily. Now, kids, this is another big lie. Good night, darlings.

O. E. STURGEON MAY BE GIVEN PERMIT TO OPERATE BUS LINE

Willingness to grant a franchise to O. E. Sturgeon, Xenia, to operate buses on a regular schedule over the route formerly covered by the city street car, was exhibited by City Commission Thursday night.

Should Sturgeon be willing to provide bus service to the E. Main St. and O. S. and S. O. Home terminals, operating on a uniform schedule every day, an ordinance may be drawn up granting a franchise for a "reasonable length of time."

The franchise would not be exclusive in a technical sense but the commission would reserve the right to refuse all other applicants.

Sturgeon would be required to furnish sufficient bond guaranteeing service and take out liability insurance to protect passengers.

FIVE CANDIDATES FILE INTENTIONS TO SEEK OFFICES

Five more aspirants to public office qualified as candidates Thursday and Friday, two for sheriff, two for county treasurer and one for congress, by filing their formal declarations of candidacy with the board of elections.

Harry E. Rice, editor and publisher of the Xenia Herald, filed Friday for the Democratic nomination for congress from the Seventh Congressional District, opposing C. K. Wolf, Greene County farmer. Certification of his filing was sent to other counties in this district Friday.

Two more candidates entered the field for sheriff assuring a four-cornered race. Deputy Sheriff John Baughn and Harry Cramer were the first to file. The latest candidates for the Republican nomination are H. L. Hupman and Ohmer Tate, both of Xenia.

J. F. Shoemaker, Goes Station grocer, formally tossed his hat in the ring for the Republican nomination for county treasurer, while L. F. Cleverger, Xenia candy maker, announced he would file for the Republican nomination for this office Friday. He took out papers Friday morning. J. F. Hutchison, Miss Helen Dodds and Sheriff Morris Sharp are also seeking this office.

The deadline for filing is Friday at midnight and election board officials expect an avalanche of eleventh hour announcements.

Other details of the plan, such as the fare to be charged, time schedule and other matters will be worked out later.

Meanwhile Sturgeon may be given a temporary permit to provide bus service.

Xenians who formerly patronized the city street car have been without this means of transportation for some time. An original temporary permit granted Carl Pent, Xenia operator, was surrendered by him more than a month ago.

An operator named Daum, Dayton, was then given a temporary permit, but discontinued service within three days when one of his buses broke down. At present no service is being rendered.

FRED KEELER QUILTS FACULTY POSITION AT CENTRAL SCHOOL

Fred R. Keeler, head of the Smith-Hughes vocational agricultural department at Central High School for the past three years, has resigned to become the county agent for the Ross County Farm Bureau, Superintendent H. C. Pendry disclosed Friday.

Mr. Keeler is expected to submit his formal resignation to Superintendent Pendry in the next few days. It will become effective immediately as he will leave to assume his new duties July 1.

His successor has not been appointed, according to the superintendent. Mr. Keeler is a graduate of Ohio State University and was instructor in agriculture at Wheelersburg, O., and later at Beaver Creek for two or three years.

He was recently elected to fill the farm bureau vacancy at Chillicothe.

"We very much regret his loss not only to the profession but to the school," declared Superintendent Pendry. "His new position however, affords him many advantages."

While Mr. Keeler was head of the agricultural department at Central, the department did not have a great growth but this was due to the fact there is no room for expansion at Central. Classes are restricted to farm students.

PROPOSES ELECTRIC SIGNALS TO DEPOSE DAYMEN AT CROSSINGS

A proposal of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for elimination of the danger element at five city crossings by installation of automatic flash signals was taken under consideration by City Commission Thursday night.

John E. Daly, Pennsylvania railroad master, and another representative of the road, laid before commissioners a proposition to replace watchmen and bells, at designated crossings with flash signals identical to those installed at the double track at Trebeins.

It is estimated the crossings can not be equipped in this manner at a cost of less than $10,000.

The initial cost of installing these devices at each crossing would be about $2,000.

Two crossings on Cincinnati Ave., and one each on W. Second, W. Main and W. Market Sts., would be so equipped.

Advantage of the mechanical over the human agency were outlined by Mr. Daly. The flash signals are fool-proof; are on duty twenty-four hours a day, whereas these crossings are unguarded at night, and are more dependable, Daly declared.

He also presented statistics showing a comparison of the loss of life and accidents at unprotected crossings, those at which watchmen are stationed, those guarded by bells and those equipped with mechanical signals. Fewer accidents occur at crossings protected by flash signals, he showed.

Installation of the system can not be made without authorization of City Commission.

The signals are operated on city power with emergency storage batteries and give early warning of the approach of trains.

Yearly salaries of the mayor of Xenia, chief of police and four regular patrolmen were increased in an ordinance passed by City Commission Thursday night.

Annual salary of Mayor John Prugh has been fixed at $1,200, a raise of $300. Mayor Prugh, since assuming office January 1, is turning more money into the city treasury than ever before, it is said.

Police Chief M. E. Graham's monthly salary was boosted $10 per month, a yearly increase of $120, and that of Patrolmen Charles Thompson, Fred Jones, Ed Craig and George Robinson, $5 a month, a $60 increase per year.

Salaries of Motorcycle Policemen Peter Shagin and Desk Sergeant H. L. Karch remains unchanged. Chief Graham will receive $135 per month and the four patrolmen $115 per month when the ordinance becomes effective in thirty days.

IRISH CARDINAL IS EXTENDED WELCOME UPON ARRIVAL HERE

Primate Deprecates Him-
self As Crowd Swarms
Pier

NEW YORK, June 11.—Patrick, Cardinal O'Donnell, primate of Ireland, stood in the dignity of his robes and his seventy years on a Hoboken Pier as he landed from the liner President Roosevelt today and spoke deprecatingly as a crowd of churchmen and laymen joined in welcoming him to America.

"I am but a humble man," the aged prelate said, speaking of the impressive welcome being accorded to all the foreign church leaders arriving for the coming Eucharistic Congress in Chicago.

Six feet tall, broad shouldered and genial, the Cardinal who comes from County Armagh, had played deck golf and joined in other deck sports on the transatlantic voyage. He was interested principally in telling of Ireland's affection for America, and in meeting his Uncle John Breslin, of Brooklyn, whom he had never seen.

Seventy other churchmen were in the Cardinal's party which was met at the pier by Mayor Frank Hague of New Jersey, acting mayor Augustus Bach, of Hoboken and New York and New Jersey clerical.

Cardinal O'Donnell is the second primate of Ireland ever to visit the United States. He discussed problems of Ireland today saying that "for all our wants we had a generous helper in Greater Ireland on the other side of the Atlantic."

The party was taken to the Battery on the fireboat John Purroy Mitchell whence the Cardinal was escorted by a Parade to the Vanderbilt Hotel. He will remain through next Wednesday, when he leaves for Chicago.

Meanwhile civic and church leaders were preparing an enthusiastic welcome to Cardinal Bonzano, papal delegate to the Eucharistic congress, who is due later today on the S. S. Aquitania.

Cardinal Hayes and other church dignitaries will go down the bay on a yacht to meet the Aquitania due at Quarantine at 2:30 p. m. Other delegations representing the Catholic Club will be at Quarantine, the Holy Name Society and other societies have chartered four steamers on which they will meet the liner.

A committee headed by Police Commissioner McLaughlin will meet the party on landing at the Battery whence a procession of 50 automobiles will follow the Cardinal's car up Fifth Avenue to Cardinal Hayes' home.

CRY OF BLACKHANDER CAUSES PANIC AMONG BROOKLYN CHILDREN

Two Trampled Seriously When Boy's Shout Precipitates Terror At Italian School—Police Calm Crowds

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 11.—A small boy shouted "Blackhand!" probably as a hot retort to some tormenter, in front of a school attended largely by Italians here today, and precipitated a panic which spread through the hundreds of children at the school, then around the neighborhood and finally required strenuous efforts by police to quiet.

Two children were so severely hurt they were taken to hospitals and others were knocked down and bruised, requiring first aid treatment.

The children were entering the building for classes when the cry of "Blackhand" came from the street.

The cry was taken up by hundreds of children. Those still outside broke ranks and fled for their homes, spreading the cry. The lines of children inside the building stopped moving as they took up the cry. Then they turned towards the doors.

In a moment they were shoving, pushing and fighting to escape. Teachers, attempting to quiet them, were brushed aside. One boy fell on a stairway and was trampled and kicked. Soon the school was stormed by excited women and a few men. Cries of "where's my baby" went up as many mothers sought to force their way into the school. Emergency squads of police arrived and called for reserves.

Then, crushing their way through the screaming children, dotted with frantic mothers, they took stations at the doorways and gates stemmed the rush and finally restored order.

"It was a peculiar instance of mass-hysteria" was the verdict of police.

PEPPER TESTIFIES BEFORE PROBES OF PRIMARY EXPENSES

Tells Inquirers He Was Served Only By Friends

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Senator George Wharton Pepper, unsuccessful in the Pennsylvania Republican senatorial race was called to the witness stand today by the senate primary campaign expense investigators to relate details of his campaign organization.

Pepper, denying he had set up headquarters through his workers in various sections of the state, declared:

"I obtained the assistance of my friends for this work. I did not rely on paid workers, but upon my friends. I want to recognize now the great obligation that I owe them."

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Evidence of campaign expenditures in the Pennsylvania primary may be used by Democrats in an effort to unseat William S. Vare, wet Republican.

A member of the senate committee conducting the investigation which has resulted in admissions that more than a half million dollars was spent for the three senatorial candidates, said today that they would act.

This member could not speak officially, because he is sitting as a judge on the case, but he said:

"We hope to say who it fits to sit in the senate. If Senator Truman Newberry, of Michigan was chased out of that body because his forces spent $190,000, I don't see why Vare should be overlooked."

"We will wait until we hear all the evidence and then give our judgment, but the fact that admissions already have been made that more than half a million dollars was expended in a part of the state certainly will demand the attention of the senate."

COMMISSION MOVES TO CLEAR TRACTION FRANCHISE PROBLEM

RESOLUTION GIVES COMPANY POWER TO SHIFT PAVING WORK

Company May Replace
Paving Or Pay City
$10,000

Another step was taken by City Commission Thursday night with the ultimate view of clarifying the present involved situation and settling all differences with the Dayton, Springfield and Xenia Southern Railway Co., relative to granting the company a twenty-year re-newal of its franchise into the city.

Although not accepting a counter proposition of R. K. Landis, Dayton as receiver, under which the city is made a cash offer of $10,000 with which to finance re-construction of S. Detroit St., when the city's one-man car route is torn up, the commission in a resolution, made another proposal.

By a unanimous vote, a resolution was adopted whereby the traction company may either rebuild the street according to plans and specifications as drawn up by A. E. Williams, city engineer, or pay outright to the city $10,000 in cash to finance the project.

It was also made a condition in the resolution that the company shall never locate a passenger station south of Main St., must rebuild the tracks between Main and Second Sts. to conform with those on W. Main St., and must vacate or dispose of its traction line rights north of Market St. to the Fairground Road.

The Springfield and Xenia Traction company is eager to purchase this track. Federal Judge Smith Hickenlooper has also recommended the sale of the track to this company.

This proposition will be added to the franchise ordinance. Passage of the ordinance may depend upon the acceptance of the proposal.

City Solicitor J. A. Finney was to notify Receiver Landis of the commission's action.

A. E. Williams, representing the Foster Engineering Co., Dayton contracting firm, made an offer at the meeting to rebuild S. Detroit St. with brick between the rails for $10,000. He also agreed to furnish proper bond.

The D. S. and X. S. is anxious to be relieved of the responsibility of rebuilding the street this summer as it is understood that either sale or foreclosure of the company may take place in July. The receiver's ship will be terminated at the same time.

Arrangements were made for the marriage of Gertrude Olstead, movie actress, to Robert Z. Leonard, director and divorced husband of Mae Murray, at Santa Barbara, Cal.

JOLIET, Ill., June 11.—Dickie Loeb passed into the estate of manhood today behind the prison bars that are to confine him for life.

The millionaire college boy who killed Bobby Franks and was spared from the gallows because of his youth, became 21 years of age today. He was only 18, when, with Nathan Leopold, he kidnapped and murdered Bobby Franks "for a thrill."

That was on May 21, 1924. Dickie became 19 years old on June 11, of that year—just two weeks before his fate was placed in the hands of Judge John R. Caverly. And in sentencing Dickie and Nathan to life imprisonment, Judge Caverly explained that he spared them from the gallows because of their youth.

Young Leopold is nearly a year older than Dickie but was still 19 when the famous murder case was heard.

For Dickie his twenty-first birthday was not unlike other drab days in the state penitentiary. He had hopes that his mother and brothers would pay him a visit. If they come down from their Chicago home, Dickie will be re-

BRAZIL TO DESERT LEAGUE COUNCIL IS REPORT AT GENEVA

Spain Also Plans To
Quit League Is
Learned

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 11.—Brazil has determined to resign from the League of Nations, it was revealed today in a cable sent by the government to Mello Franco, the Brazilian council member at Geneva.

After stating the Brazilian note delivered to the league yesterday definitely resigned Brazil's non-permanent council membership, the government's cable added that "in accordance with the final part of the league covenants first article, Brazil will notify the league of nations secretariat of her resolution to decline the honor which she always has appreciated of taking part in the league, thereby completing with rectitude and regret her act of today (meaning the note which was delivered to the league yesterday)."

GENEVA, June 11.—With Brazil already resigned from the league of nations council, Spain threatening to withdraw from the league and all progress toward world disarmament blocked until Sept. members of the council will be arriving in their home capitals today and tomorrow to explain to their respective cabinets the painful happenings at Geneva.

France told the council she could not disarm until her security had been guaranteed adequately. Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary then requested delay in consideration of French proposals to amend the league covenant to conform with the French idea of security.

The amendments would enable the council to act more quickly to prevent hostilities and also to render quicker financial, economic and military aid to an attacked nation.

The council held Brazil cannot resign before September when the assembly will be in session and prepared to elect a successor.

Monroe sold his farm recently and was to have moved to his new home in Detroit today, according to police, and it is believed the murderers thought the money obtained from the sale was in the house.

Darrow always insisted he fought for Dickie's life only "for his parents from the humiliation of having him hanged."

Sayre's Drug Store

The Thrill of a Sparkling Eye!

You brides GOT him with that "sparkle" and by gee whiz sir that's a SURE way to HOLD him! We're men folks over here and until men are forced to wear BLINDERS, crutches, a ball and chain and handcuffs, the little ole "sparkle" keeps us in line! And our Rexall Eye Drops used twice a week sure DO JUST that! Costs 25c.

A Bride's Handicap!

They're all a BIT handicapped compared to the freedom a MALE enjoys but, gosh, you know there's NOTHING so dis-allousing as a headachy bride moaning around all broke out in a gloom. Is there? That's why EVERY bride should have at least ONE big box of Rexall Headache Tablets, 25c, in the Medicine Chest!

Laff on, you Men! Laff On!

But no matter how you josh about the fuss women folks make over the powders, paints, perfumes, creams and lotions, you'd be sorer'n a boil and plumb demoralized if they QUIT using such things! We men have been spoiled for just ORDINARY "good looks" for the American Girl is STILL girlish looking at 30—even older! And our Toilettries Dept. helps 'em to KEEP that way!

Girls! Girls!! Lookee Wot You Done!

You're FORCED us to invest in GOGGLES to protect our wide open eyes from the glare of your splendid pulchritudiness! The sun UST to bother us some but ITS rays are feeble compared to yours. Makes us spend from 50c to $1.50 for goggles ALONE.

"Orneriest Cigar I Ever Smoked!!"

The above statement was made by a customer after purchasing and smoking one of our "Seal of Texas" 5c Cigars! Yet there are OTHER folks who smoke this brand REGULARLY and have nothing but kind words to say about them. Funny about cigars.

368 Films Developed!! Yesterday!!

It was our HIGH water mark! Certainly this is the time of year to get beautiful views and scenes and also certainly THIS is the place HERE where most ALL of you Xenians are having your work done. We're sure proud of our Camera and Film Department.

The Temperature of a Bride's Kiss!

No matter how low or how HIGH it is, it's dern poor medicine when the brand new groom bats his thumb nail with a hammer! Of course, a kiss (one of the 105 deg. sort) WILL take your MIND off a bruise of this kind but there are far more sensible things in a Medicine Chest to help out if the bride has seen to its proper equipping. And that's only ONE point! One item.

For after all, BOTH of you, and this includes the groom, have just GOT to light! A sky-trip like a honeymoon is a most thrilling and adventurous expedition and ALL of us whether we have taken the trip or are looking forward to one are certainly interested in BRIDES and their future. And THAT's a normal, healthy reason why we here in this store—ALL of us—are particularly interested in moving forward into prominent places the "things" which brides like to get as PRESENTS. Not that they'll appreciate them NOW, understand, but they WILL appreciate them AFTER they come back to earth—with the REST of us poor mortals.

And DON'T forget the GROOM! We haven't, but we DO realize that he sure is unimportant even tho more or less a necessary evil in well organized honeymoons. Are we right?

DORC. SAYRE.

Shorty Says:-

Not having had no experience in bride grooming, I can only speak from hearsay and observation but I DO know that a woman ought to make an active member of Congress — she's ALWAYS introducing a new bill in the HOUSE. I ALSO figger that a LOTTA brides feel that they can have an unbridled tongue just because they're traveling "double harness!" How's that for a wise crack?

1941 Item—Any Newspaper!

Miss Euralia B. Chamois, head of the TOBACCO PROHIBITION Dept. has asked the government to make a ruling by which Foreign Embassies will come under the jurisdiction of her department. Miss Chamois claims that verandas and grounds of Embassies in Washington are crowded with pipe, cigar and cigarette smoking men and is becoming distinctly a nuisance. Ain't it grand to lean up against our Cigar Counter—LEGALLY!

What a Wise Groom Said:

"When I was strutting my stuff BEFORE I got married I sure was one fussy party when I made my toilet for the evening call. Then I got lax. Wife wasn't so keen about me either. Then I WOKE up! And today, I, a MALE, use cold cream, a polish after shaving, a WEE bit of perfume and PLENTY of tonic and shiner for my hair. I'M ONE HAPPY MARRIED MAN!"

Their thirst is always on top.

Records!

"I'd climb to the highest mountain if I knew I'd find YOU" is the DUMB name gives a most beautiful record. There is sure a great list out this week but the above is probably the most intriguing.

CONQUER CONSTIPATION EASILY

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN relieves constipation because it is 100% BRAN

Mr. McEnery tried part-bran substitutes — but only ALL-BRAN brought complete relief. Here's what he says:

"For fifteen years I was constantly bothered with constipation. . . . About two years ago I tried out mixed bran and corn flakes but did not get much relief. Some eighteen months ago, I began using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. From the first week to this good day, I have never had to take a dose of any laxative medicine of any description."

JAMES D. MCENERY, R. F. D. No. 4, Alto, Texas.

Constipation is the enemy of health. The cause of more than forty diseases. Don't let this insidious trouble send its poisons through your body. Pimples, spots before the eyes, indigestion and headaches—are warning signs.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your money is refunded. Delicious with milk, fruit or with other cereals. Fine in cooking.

Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere.

IGNORING WRITER'S RIGHTS

Apparently there is a marked difference between the sexes in the matter of reading novels. While statistics are not available, it is believed the number of women who read the last pages of a novel first is large, and there are equally good reasons to believe that such a practice would spoil a novel for most men. Perhaps the difference is due to a woman's traditional curiosity.

There are two objections to reading books "backwards". It removes the element of suspense, destroys the sequence of the story, defeats the author's purpose to surprise his readers—which are the things that really make a story—and it is unfair to the author. A novel is supposed to have, and all good novels do have, a beginning, a middle, and an end, and to take these in the wrong order is to ignore the rights as well as the purpose of the writer. Certainly the reader is under some obligation to give the author a chance to prove his ability to develop characters and build up a situation and a climax.

But how is the situation to be corrected? If all readers finished the end before reading the opening chapter, a simple remedy would be the interchanging of the beginning and end in the printing of the book. As there are some readers in control of their curiosity and equal to the most exciting suspense, it is suggested that two editions, with the text reversed in the one, be published.

As far as legislating against the evil, such drastic action does not seem necessary since the weaker sex is not clamoring for protection from its own overpowering curiosity and impatience and the authors have not been cut off from their royalties.

GROUNDLESS FEARS

Occasionally there is heard the hysterical question, "what will the world do when the coal supply is exhausted" and some answer calmly, "science will discover a substitute," or something to that effect. Both question and answer provide food for thought but there is much more mental pabulum and more readily digestible in the report of the geological survey that in the United States alone there are 3,854,000,000 tons of coal unmined and an equal amount in the rest of the world. Surely this report leaves no food for worry for this and several succeeding generations.

The United States began mining coal in 1814 with a production that year of twenty tons. The production in 110 years since 1814 was an aggregate of 14,000,000,000 tons.

With 99 per cent of its original determined coal supply still in the ground, the people of the United States need feel no anxiety over its future fuel, especially since the United States is producing one-half the world's output of the black diamonds.

The Theatre

Many are the tales of the big-heartedness of the variety people—the folk who play vaudeville time. Stories of the sacrifices made by these people of the theater for friends rival that of Damon and Pythias.

Mark Hellinger, who reports Broadway from the inner circle tells of a new example of this spirit of friendship. Dorothy Antel, who fell on an iron staircase while playing in a production six years ago and has been imprisoned in a steel jacket ever since, is the newest example.

Miss Antel, it appears, wanted to move closer to her beloved Broadway. When the story went abroad seven cabarets came to her assistance. A ball was held for her benefit; a vaudeville magnate chipped in more than his share and in other ways, the sum mounted.

As a result they pumped Dorothy full of morphine, took her into the open air for the second time in six years, and carried her six miles down town to 316 W. Seventy-second St. There she can see the Hudson and the lights of Broadway are but a few blocks away. And she is happy.

Hellinger also contributes this to the list of famous last words: "There was no wine in the bathtub."

Warner Bros., Syd Chaplin and Chuck Geisner will bring the famous stage play, "The Better Ole," to the screen soon. Warner will produce the picture, which Geisner will direct. Chaplin will play the part of "Old Bill," and will discard his female wig and feminine habiliments to play the role for straight comedy. Doris Hill will be his leading lady.

Reginald Denny, screen star, tells this one. If you've heard it, stop me. Denny was speeding down a California road when he passed a man in a flivver going the same direction. Returning some time later, he found the flivver driver in the ditch with his car on top of him. Denny was solicitous about what caused the accident. "Well," said the unfortunate motorist, "when you passed me you were going so fast I thought my car had stopped and I stepped out to crank it."

With a little practice you beginners will also be able to roll the dough into almost a perfect circle, so that you may lay it onto the ungreased pie-pan and it will practically fit without much trimming around edges. I use a little thirty-cent iron pie-edge fancy cutter on my pies (I bought it in a department store and I am sure that all my readers can find a pastry-edge-fluter along the same lines by asking for such an article at various shops). Stick the crust all over with a fork so that the steam may escape in the baking. The two under crusts are now ready for the following:

recipe fills two pies.) Separate four eggs, placing the four yolks in a medium-size mixing bowl. Add to these yolks four tablespoons of bread flour, and mix well. Then also add two tablespoons of very soft butter, the rind and juice and pulp of two small or medium-size oranges (to make a Lemon Sponge Pie you would merely substitute rind and juice of two large lemons for these two oranges). Then stir in two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of cold, sweet milk. Mix well and fold in the four egg-whites stiffly beaten. Bake in a medium-hot oven for forty-five minutes (about 400 degrees Fahrenheit).

SIDELIGHTS ON Greene County History

STRINGTOWN

In the northwestern part of New Jasper Township, as a collection of houses clustered along the road, which, for a number of years, was known as Stringtown. At present there are little more than a dozen houses which may be considered as a part of this "town." There is no store or church at this point. Five of the houses were occupied by colored families in 1913.

A number of colored families came to this immediate vicinity to make their homes in the years before the Civil War.

They were from the South and were settled on farms in the corner of the township by their owners.

The colored families, four in number, were freed by their masters, who, in a desire to help the poor people, came to this county, bought about 400 acres of land and gave it to them for their permanent homes.

These families were the Curlys, Smiths, Brooks and Fergusons, well remembered by the older generations of the township, most of them and their descendants finally locating in Xenia.

The colored people living along the road in Stringtown in later years were not of this group, but later comers into the township.

The Young family later owned the old Curl and Smith farms.

ACCEPTANCE

As it's given to me to see,
I have come to this conclusion:
Telling God what ought to be
Is impertinent intrusion.
So when I get down to pray
I just ask for what is best
And the strength to face the day
And the faith to meet the test.
As I run my own life through,
'Spite of all the plans I'm taking,
I'm ashamed to sit and view
All the blunders I've been making.
I've so bungled my affairs,
Doing what I thought was wise,
That I've ceased to put on airs
And I fear to criticize.
All my boasted judgment seems
But a hodge-podge and a jumble,
I have spoiled so many dreams
That I should be very humble.
For the gain I thought was good
Often turned out very bad,
And the loss, when understood,
Brought what small success I've had.
As it's given to me to see,
I have come to this conclusion:
Telling God what ought to be
Is impertinent intrusion.
Since I cannot wisely run
All these small affairs of mine,
Surely I am not the one
To resent the will divine.

Red itching blisters on baby's face healed by Resinol

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 19.—"My baby had eczema for three months and nothing seemed to do him any good until I tried your products. His cheeks were red and covered with blisters, and the itching was so annoying that he could not sleep. After reading your ad in the paper I purchased a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap. Only a few applications stopped the itching entirely and within a week the redness was gone and his skin practically clear. Your ointment is really wonderful and I will praise it to everyone." # Today's Talk

THE ETIQUETTE OF THE HEART

In these little Talks I say much about the heart. The reason is that life centres about the heart. I like fine manners. To see a person who knows the proper thing to do under all circumstances is to look upon one well equipped for association with all types of human beings. The well-mannered person is at home everywhere—even among those who are not well trained or taught.

But I believe that too much emphasis can be placed upon ordinary physical etiquette with the heart showing its ill breeding. "Kind hearts are more than coronets." And a well-mannered heart always takes upon itself a touch of heaven.

I have known people who would become greatly disturbed over ill manners at a table or at a gathering but who would not hesitate to hurt another by a crude remark or an unkind reference.

Politeness is simply honesty. And to be honest is to answer to our most sincere impulses whether these impulses tell of the proper thing or not. Fine conduct is naturality so shaped as to make people comfortable and happy. He or she uses the best etiquette who makes those near the least disturbed and at ease.

"The fine-mannered heart doesn't hurt other hearts."

We never become completely educated. But we grow more educated as we learn to inspire others through our own efforts to use every faculty at our command for the happiness of others.

I miss those whom I love who have fine-mannered hearts, who live in me though they may be far separated.

SPRINGFIELD TEAM WILL OPPOSE XENIA RESERVE 9 SUNDAY

The Springfield Millard Clothiers will be the attraction at Washington Park against the Xenia Reserve Sunday afternoon.

Cyphers will again occupy the mound for Manager Brockman's nine, and if guaranteed a little support in the field, a requirement that must be accorded the best pitchers to insure a victory, the locals will probably shatter their one-game losing streak.

Cyphers lost a 5 to 4 verdict in the contest with the Springfield When Clothiers last Sunday but the fault was not his. He should have won 4 to 1, errors by his teammates paying the way for four unearned tallies.

The Springfield Millards will prove to be no easy combination to defeat. Earlier in the season this team defeated the Reserves, 10 to 8.

The management announces an attendance prize will be given away in the fifth inning. The prize, an ivory shaving set, is on display in the window at the Geyer book store, S. Detroit St.

PLAY YELLOW CABS SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Nothing daunted by a 4 to 1 defeat in the first game of the season with the Dayton Yellow Cabs last week, the Xenia Indians are practicing earnestly for the clash with the strong Bellbrook nine Sunday afternoon at Ringer Park. Game will start at 3 p. m.

Lucas, a Springfield hurler, and Jones will form the Xenia battery with Michael and Waller working for the enemy.

The Indians have strengthened their lineup for this game by the addition of new players in the outfield. The infield is strong. Jones, first baseman, formerly played with the Louisville American Association team, it is said.

Bellbrook is confident of victory. The team was victorious over the Yellow Cabs twice last season and is represented by the same team again this year.

The local management is taking steps to improve the park, the first of which is the erection of a new grand stand. Work on this was begun this week.

KID STAR PITCHES FOR BOWERSVILLE

"Red" Lucas, sixteen-year-old high school pitching sensation of the Bowersville Bayliffs, will attempt to put an end to the team's losing streak in the game with the Dayton Shamrock Aces at Bowersville Sunday afternoon.

Lucas is the successor to Clarence Wells, who is now the regular twirler for Greenfield, and is considered one of the finds of the season.

The Bayliffs suffered a painful batting slump last week, failing to connect with one safe hit in a seven inning game with Harshman.

The line-up has since been strengthened and the nine hopes to climb back on the win side Sunday. The contest will start at 2 p. m., standard time.

Sunday School Lessons

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By Franklin Parker).

JOSEPH'S FIDELITY

GOLDEN TEXT: Seest thou a man diligent in business? He shall stand before kings. Proverbs 22:29.

TIME: Joseph was 17 years old when he was taken to Egypt in B. C. 1736 and 28 years old when in B. C. 1725 he was sent to prison. He was steward to Potiphar for 10 years.

PLACE: If the Pharaoh of Joseph's time was a member of the Hyksos dynasty or shepherd kings of Egypt, his capital, where Joseph apparently lived, "was a stronghold in the delta called Avaris, the site of which has not been discovered."

INTRODUCTION: The older brothers seized Joseph, the favorite of the venerable father, out of envy, threw him screaming into a pit, and then thought they had put the dreamer out of the way and that their life would run on in untroubled smoothness. But some travelers and traders came along and they sold him to them as a slave. The story is one of the blackest in the Bible. Out of this insane envy and hatred grew the steps that carried Israel down into Egypt with all that he possessed and with all that followed from this historic event in the history of the world.

1. JOSEPH, SOLD A SLAVE: Potiphar, the king's chief officer, of the court and captain of the guard, bought him and made him his house servant. The good qualities of the boy appeared soon and he was appreciated. This Hebrew boy did not leave his religion behind him when he passed into a foreign country and was sold as a slave. He was blessed for his faithfulness to God and man. True religion does this very thing to this day. It is hard to keep a good man down.

2. HIS TEMPTATION: Potiphar's evil wife cast her wicked and sensual eyes on him and the seductive solicitation was repeated day after day, the strain upon self control was tremendous. Joseph stood firm and staunch as steel against his temptation. Good and evil are so entwined in this world that the purest soul can be caught in the coils of temptation and tragedy. Yet no one is ever tempted above that he is able to bear, for the temptation there is always some means of escape. 1 Corinthians 10:13.

3. IN PRISON: A common prison in any land is not a palace but in that heathen land and brutal age it evidently was a terrible place. How tragic was the fate of this pure soul. The very virtue that was the most splendid jewel of his character became the shining mark that drew the poisonous arrow of lust and hate. Does not this leaf of ancient history tell a story that is often repeated in our modern time? It is easy and popular to express our sympathy with Joseph, in prison under false accusation, but let us beware that we ourselves do not play the part of Potiphar's wife in starting, suggesting, exaggerating or spreading evil reports. "Judge not, that ye be not judged." Matthew 7:1.

4. FRIENDS: He quickly made two friends. God went to jail with Joseph, so to speak, and shared the prison with him. "This is no mere figure of speech but speaks a real truth. God never deserts a man because he is down and out in the estimation of men. It makes no difference where we are, in what hard circumstances, bitter bondage or deep unjust disgrace, we can have God with us. One other friend Joseph soon had in the jail: "the keeper of the prison." But all lives are linked together, and the humblest may be linked with the highest. The very favor of God to Joseph found some expression in the kindness of this jailer, and if Joseph had spurned the good will of the jailer he might have broken the chain that under the blessing of God, brought him to this high place. Let us not despise the good will of the humblest people, for not only may we help them, but they may help us, even in some of the most important steps of our life.

5. JOSEPH, PRISON SUPERINTENDENT: He was soon seen to be a good prisoner, self controlled and reasonable in disposition, obedient and trustworthy in conduct. Keeping the rules of the prison and always doing what he was told to do. Step by step the prisoner rose from his barred cell to the highest office in the prison. Patience, continuance in well-doing was the path and the power that placed him in this high place.

No man is likely to be kept down that has in him this spirit of faithful service. If one thinks himself in a narrow and tight place, instead of fretting against Providence or against the social order, let him make himself so useful there that it no longer can hold him, and then an outlet will be opened. "Seest thou a man diligent in his business? He shall stand before kings." Proverbs 22:29.

THE COURAGEOUS HEART
I know the stars are in the sky
I know the rivers run,
I know the ocean tides obey
The mandate of the sun.

I know the flowers trust in God,
As year by year they bloom,
Then why should I so fearful be
Of destiny or doom?

I know that through all life there runs
One great eternal law.
I know that Ignorance is sin,
And Fear the only flaw.

And knowing Truth, and fearing naught
I go my quiet way,
Assured that a courageous heart
Shall win the darkest day.

CURRENTS

It may work out allright. More pacts and less tax.

Our debt payment from France will never happen if she ever pensions her Premiers.

May showers make the nations flourish.

BIBLE STORY

"Thou hast searched my goods. Put what thou has found of thine between us and thy clan, that they may judge betwixt us. For twenty years have I been with thee. My care of thy flock thou knowest. For what was torn by the wild beast or stolen by the robber I repaid thee. For thy flock's sake I was burned by the sun and chilled by the frost, and passed toilsome days and sleepless nights. Well thou knowest that had not the fear of the God of my fathers, who is with me, held thee back, thou wouldst have sent me home penniless."

For a moment even Laban was ashamed. "What use to us to quarrel," he said, "since we are all of one blood? Let us make an agreement and part." Then they piled up a cairn there in Gilead and the two companions ate and drank upon the cairn. And they named it Mizpah. "Watch Tower," "For," said the older cheat to the younger, who had overreached him in the end, "May God watch between us two when we are absent one from the other and may God judge between us if we harm one another." And it may seem that they both needed a weather and a judge.

Next morning Laban kissed his daughters and their children and blessed them; and the two parties took their different ways never to meet again.

The Return

As the vision of God came to Jacob when he went of the Land of Promise, so visions were to greet him as he returned. For as they camped one night in Gilead, he was aware that his camp was not the only one. All around his tents were companies of bright angels, such as he had seen on the golden stairway in his vision at Bethel. Then he said: "Let this place be called 'Mahanaim, Two Hosts' since God has sent His host to keep watch and ward over mine." But still his heart was heavy at the thought of that ancient wrong that he had done to his brother and he dreaded the hour that he should meet with Esau.

Therefore he sent greetings and messengers to the wild hunter where he lay in Mount Seir of the southland and he besought his grace; but when they returned they brought no answer save this: "Behold, thy brother comes to meet thee and with him are four hundred armed men." At that word Jacob was sorely distressed for he judged the heart of Esau by the heart of himself, stubborn and unforgetting. So he divided his company, with his flocks and herds and camel trains, into two bands; that so, if Esau should destroy the one, the other might escape. Then falling upon his knees he prayed to Jehovah, "Oh, God of my fathers, I said, 'who didst command me to return to this land, behold, I am not worthy of all the mercy which thou didst show me for, when I passed this river Jordan before, I was a helpless wanderer, with no possession but my pilgrim's staff, and now I have become two bands. Save me, I pray Thee, from the vengeance of my Brother Esau, for I fear him, lest he slay me and my dear ones. Lord, hast thou not promised to be gracious to me, and to make of my household as the sands of the sea?" (To Be Continued)

CHILDREN'S DAY PROGRAMS TO BE HELD IN ALL XENIA CHURCHES SUNDAY, IS SAID

"Children's Day," which whitened little misses and shy boys will present programs of the day, will be observed in Xenia Churches, Sunday.

The Rev. S. R. Burkett, pastor, Friends Church, where exercises will be held Sunday morning beginning at 10:45, taking the place of the regular morning worship, said in announcing his plans: "The church is glad to give the time for this service in honor of the children who are the men and women of tomorrow; we fear too little time is given to the children in our usual meetings for worship. Neither can we make up for our neglect in this one day, so may each day be 'children's day.' It is to be hoped that we may gain a greater appreciation of the children, for as Gen. Grant said, 'I take off my hat to every child, for who knows what lies within.'"

Children's Day program will be held at First Baptist Church Sunday evening at 7:30. Other churches have arranged programs for both the Sunday School and regular church hours.

Members of all congregations have been asked to bring flowers to decorate the auditoriums for the day. Flowers are to be taken to the respective churches by Saturday afternoon.

Programs of the day will include recitations, songs and diadems by children, singly and in groups. Primary and junior department leaders have been busy for weeks preparing the children for the day. Each pastor will devote his sermon to children and other special features have been arranged for in various churches.

OPEN MINDEDNESS OF LINCOLN

Lincoln is sometimes spoken of as a typical American. It would be much nearer the truth to describe him as our most exceptional American. In no respect was he more exceptional than in his capacity for growth. He kept growing intellectually to the end of his life and never more rapidly than after his elevation to the presidency. He took the leading papers on both sides of the burning question that agitated the people of his day and reached his conclusions only after careful thought and full discussion. How many men do that today? Most men close their minds at twenty and practically all at forty. Lincoln's open mindedness was the secret of his vast tolerance, than which there is nothing of which we stand in greater need at the present.

F. H. HODDER, Head, Dept. History, University of Kansas.

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

ROLAND

Once upon a time there lived a nasty old witch who had a husband and a hired man. As the fashion was, she wanted to ditch her old man and marry the farm hand. One day she decided to kill her man, Roland. "I'll fix him tonight," she said. "I'll cut off his head tonight while he sleeps."

Luckily the husband overheard her remarks, so just before bed-time he got the hired man drunk. He then placed the hired man in his bed and he got in the hired man's bed. At midnight the old witch slipped in with a penknife and let it fall on her intended victim. Alas, with one stroke she cut off the head of the one she loved.

The next morning Roland got up, knocked at the door of the hired man's widow, told her what had happened and then fled with her. But before they left they secured the magic wand rolling pin belonging to the old witch.

The next morning when the mean old pill got out to plan out her next move and into pants, she found the cold body of the one she wanted to marry. She flew into a terrible fit of anger and stepped into a pair of felt boots in which she could go a mile at each step. It wasn't long until she overtook her husband and the widow, but it availed her nothing.

Roland took the magic wand rolling pin and changed a field of alfalfa hay into a great pond of water. He then changed the mean old witch into a duck and made her swim around on the pond, while he and the widow stood on the shore and threw stones at her. He later changed the witch back to her former self, while the widow was changed into a beautiful rose and he, himself, was changed into a fiddler.

Along came the mean old witch to pluck the beautiful rose, when Roland struck up a tune on the fiddle. The witch could not resist it. She began to dance and took a mile at each stride. It wasn't but a few minutes until she had danced to a point thousands of miles away. Roland then stopped the music and she didn't know how to get back home.

Roland and the widow changed back to their former selves and were married. And to this day they live very happily. Now, kids, this is another big lie. Good night, darlings.

O. E. STURGEON MAY BE GIVEN PERMIT TO OPERATE BUS LINE

Willingness to grant a franchise to O. E. Sturgeon, Xenia, to operate buses on a regular schedule over the route formerly covered by the city street car, was exhibited by City Commission Thursday night.

Should Sturgeon be willing to provide bus service to the E. Main St. and O. S. and S. O. Home terminals, operating on a uniform schedule every day, an ordinance may be drawn up granting a franchise for a "reasonable length of time."

The franchise would not be exclusive in a technical sense but the commission would reserve the right to refuse all other applicants.

Sturgeon would be required to furnish sufficient bond guaranteeing service and take out liability insurance to protect passengers.

FIVE CANDIDATES FILE INTENTIONS TO SEEK OFFICES

Five more aspirants to public office qualified as candidates Thursday and Friday, two for sheriff, two for county treasurer and one for congress, by filing their formal declarations of candidacy with the board of elections.

Harry E. Rice, editor and publisher of the Xenia Herald, filed Friday for the Democratic nomination for congress from the Seventh Congressional District, opposing C. K. Wolf, Greene County farmer. Certification of his filing was sent to other counties in this district Friday.

Two more candidates entered the field for sheriff assuring a four-cornered race. Deputy Sheriff John Baughn and Harry Cramer were the first to file. The latest candidates for the Republican nomination are H. L. Hupman and Ohmer Tate, both of Xenia.

J. F. Shoemaker, Goes Station grocer, formally tossed his hat in the ring for the Republican nomination for county treasurer, while L. F. Cleverger, Xenia candy maker, announced he would file for the Republican nomination for this office Friday. He took out papers Friday morning. J. F. Hutchison, Miss Helen Dodds and Sheriff Morris Sharp are also seeking this office.

The deadline for filing is Friday at midnight and election board officials expect an avalanche of eleventh hour announcements.

FRED KEELER QUILTS FACULTY POSITION AT CENTRAL SCHOOL

Fred R. Keeler, head of the Smith-Hughes vocational agricultural department at Central High School for the past three years, has resigned to become the county agent for the Ross County Farm Bureau, Superintendent H. C. Pendry disclosed Friday.

Mr. Keeler is expected to submit his formal resignation to Superintendent Pendry in the next few days. It will become effective immediately as he will leave to assume his new duties July 1.

His successor has not been appointed, according to the superintendent.

Mr. Keeler is a graduate of Ohio State University and was instructor in agriculture at Wheelersburg, O., and later at Beavercreek for two or three years.

He was recently elected to fill the farm bureau vacancy at Chillicothe.

"We very much regret his loss not only to the profession but to the school," declared Superintendent Pendry. "His new position however, affords him many advantages."

While Mr. Keeler was head of the agricultural department at Central, the department did not have a great growth but this was due to the fact there is no room for expansion at Central. Classes are restricted to farm students.

PROPOSES ELECTRIC SIGNALS TO DEPOSE DAYMEN AT CROSSINGS

A proposal of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for elimination of the danger element at five city crossings by installation of automatic flash signals was taken under consideration by City Commission Thursday night.

John E. Daly, Pennsylvania railroad master, and another representative of the road, laid before commissioners a proposition to replace watchmen and bells at designated crossings with flash signals identical to those installed at the double track at Trebeins.

It is estimated the crossings can not be equipped in this manner at a cost of less than $10,000. The initial cost of installing these devices at each crossing would be about $2,000.

Two crossings on Cincinnati Ave., and one each on W. Second, W. Main and W. Market Sts., would be so equipped.

Advantage of the mechanical over the human agency were outlined by Mr. Daly. The flash signals are fool-proof; are on duty twenty-four hours a day, whereas these crossings are unguarded at night, and are more dependable, Daly declared.

He also presented statistics showing a comparison of the loss of life and accidents at unprotected crossings, those at which watchmen are stationed, those equipped with mechanical signals. Fewer accidents occur at crossings protected by flash signals, he showed.

Installation of the system can not be made without authorization of City Commission.

The signals are operated on city power with emergency storage batteries and give early warning of the approach of trains.

SALARIES OF MAYOR AND POLICE RAISED BY NEW ORDINANCE

Yearly salaries of the mayor of Xenia, chief of police and four regular patrolmen were increased in an ordinance passed by City Commission Thursday night.

Annual salary of Mayor John Prugh has been fixed at $1,200, a raise of $300. Mayor Prugh, since assuming office January 1, is turning more money into the city treasury than ever before, it is said.

Police Chief M. E. Graham's monthly salary was boosted $10 per month, a yearly increase of $120, and that of Patrolmen Charles Thompson, Fred Jones, Ed Craig and George Robinson, $5 a month, a $60 increase per year.

Salaries of Motorcycle Policemen Peter Shagin and Desk Sergeant H. L. Karch remains unchanged.

Chief Graham will receive $135 per month and the four patrolmen $115 per month when the ordinance becomes effective in thirty days.

ALIENATION SUIT SEEKING $60,000

Alleging alienation of her husband's affections, Isabel W. Kelly, formerly of Xenia, started action in common pleas court, Dayton, Thursday, against Jeanette K. Kelly seeking $60,000 damages.

The plaintiff charges that the defendant caused transfer of her husband's affections, when she was compelled to obtain a divorce after which her former husband and the defendant were married.

My Matrimonial Vacation by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "The Husband Tamer," "One Wife on Approval," etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

NANCY LARRABEE has remained in New York with her mother.

VIRGINIA, while her husband, a young army officer.

JIM LARRABEE, goes to the Philippines. They become estranged and she writes him that she wants to divorce him and marry Bill Ewing. She received a cablegram saying that Jim has died; sea, and realizes that it is Jim she loves.

The report of Jim's death is false, and he returns to New York, where Nancy meets him at the train, and finds that he apparently is as eager for a divorce as she was until she heard of his death.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

XLVIII—A SCENE IN CENTRAL PARK

By the following morning I had made up my mind to do whatever Jim wanted me to do and pretend that it was what I wanted to do. I'd agree to any arrangement he wanted to make for a divorce. He had assumed that I'd go to Paris or Mexico—and I wasn't going to tell him that I hadn't money enough to leave New York!

I told myself that I could bury my pride and allow the money from Nathalie Jordan; I could pay it back somehow.

He arrived at the hotel just as I finished breakfast.

Let's go for a walk while we discuss things," he suggested. "It's a beautiful day; makes you glad to be alive."

I wanted to tell him that nothing could make me glad to be alive but I didn't. I meekly put on my hat and coat, and went downstairs.

As we stood in the hotel doorway for a moment, looking over at Central Park, he seemed almost like a stranger to me. I could hardly believe that he was really my husband.

We walked for some distance through the park before the subject of our divorce came up. Then I was responsible for it.

"I suppose we might as well arrange things at once, though really there isn't much to arrange," I said. "What shall I name as grounds for divorce? Mental cruelty—desertion—"

"Of course, I did go off to the Philippines and leave you, but then, I had to go," he answered. "I was under orders from the government. That wouldn't do. As for cruelty—was I ever cruel to you, Nancy?"

"No, I don't suppose you were," I said. "Well, then—shall I say we were incompatible?"

"That wouldn't be true; we weren't," he answered. "We got along beautifully, always."

"I don't see why we're going to do, then," I exclaimed. "I was being to be impatient with him. He wanted a divorce, yet he was making it so difficult."

"Well, I don't know—of course, in Paris it would be enough if I wrote you a letter saying that I didn't want to live with you, refusing to do it."

"You might do it, then," I told him. "Of course, anything will do. I don't care how we arrange it."

"So eager to get away from me, Nancy?" he asked.

Suddenly all my defenses broke. I couldn't pretend any longer.

"No, I'm not eager to get away from you," I said. "I don't want a divorce at all. I did think I wanted one, because I thought you cared more for Celia Eaton than you did for me, when I came into our house and found her in your arms."

"Oh, did you see that?" he exclaimed. "Why didn't you tell me so? Celia's very emotional, and she'd had a row with Bill, and came straight to me. We've been good friends for years."

"And you didn't love her?"

"Not at all," he answered, beginning to smile.

"I thought you did," I rushed on, "and that's the reason I stayed here when you went to the Philippines. And when Bill Ewing fell in love with me—well, I was glad somebody as nice as he is cared that much I thought I loved him, too. But when I got back here, and got that message saying you'd died at sea—well, then I knew it was you I loved."

"I might as well own up, then," he said. "I sent you that message myself, hoping that if you did still care for me, you'd find it out then. I've always adored you, Nancy, and I always shall. Will you come back to me?"

The world seemed to whirl around me. Jim took me in his arms, despite the interest that several nursemaids took in us, and I began to laugh and suddenly found myself crying for joy.

"And you don't want a divorce so that you can marry Celia?" I asked when I came to myself.

"No—never did. Celia's quite happy with her husband. I was taking a desperate chance, Nancy. I didn't know whether I'd succeed in ending your vacation from matrimony, or in losing you altogether. That's what I came to find out."

"Well, you've found out now," I told him. "This one vacation will last me the rest of my life."
